Enterprise Information Privacy Policy

Background

Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing of consumer personal information. Federal law also requires companies to tell users how they collect, share, and protect this personal information. Allocore's Privacy Policy governs the practices and procedures that Allocore uses to safeguard the personally identifiable information it may gather during the course of business. Allocore reserves the right to change this Policy and related disclosures from time to time.

Purpose

Allocore is committed to treating and using personally identifiable information it collects from users of Allocore's family of Websites (collectively, the Site), as well as activities related to products and services Allocore offers to its clients. This Privacy Policy governs what information Allocore collects, why we collect it, how we protect it, and how and why in certain cases we may share it with select other parties.

Allocore is not a regulated entity; however, we support many customers who are. Accordingly, this policy and its associated guidance, procedures, and processes are designed to support regulatory-compliant practices within Allocore as well as meet industry expectations in this area.

Ownership

This policy and any related guidance are owned and managed by Allocore's CEO.

Scope and Applicability

This policy and any supporting controls, processes, and procedures, apply to personally identifiable consumer information obtained by Allocore through activities it controls directly or via information assets owned, supported, serviced, or operated by Allocore.

The policy and any supporting controls, processes, and procedures also applies to associates who have access to the above information, including contractors and external third-party vendors that provide, use, or access this data in their interactions for, in conjunction with, or on behalf of Allocore.

Disclosure or dissemination of Allocore Privacy Policy

Allocore will disclose its privacy policy to potentially impacted consumers in a manner appropriate to the type and nature of the interaction or transaction during which Allocore directly could collect PII, either individually or in aggregate. The type, nature, and content of this disclosure may change from time to time.

Release of Information

Allocore does not sell, trade, or rent PII to others; however, Allocore may be required by law enforcement or judicial authorities to provide PII to the appropriate governmental authorities. In such cases, Allocore will disclose PII upon receipt of a court order, subpoena, or to cooperate with a law enforcement investigation. Allocore fully cooperates with law enforcement agencies in identifying those who use our services for illegal activities. We reserve the right to report to law enforcement agencies any activities that we in good faith believe to be unlawful.

Responsibilities of associates

All associates are expected to read, review, and understand this policy, regardless of their roles within the organization. Failure to adhere to the requirements of this policy and its associated guidance, processes, and practices may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Responsibilities of contractors and third-party vendors

This policy, or a summary thereof, is provided to or may be incorporated into agreements with contractors and third-party vendors. Failure to adhere to the requirements of this policy and its associated guidance, processes, and practices may result in action up to and including termination of the relationship with Allocore.
